GOLDSTON HIGH SCHOOL

GOLDSTON HIGH SCHOOL, Goldston, North Carolina

This year The Goldstones has endeavored to present an individual picture of every teacher and student of Goldston High School in recognition of the fact that it is they who make the school what is is. They are the keys that give Goldston School life, for in it they achieve scholarship, leadership, and friendship. In a broader sense they are the school, for around them center the activities of the school and from their efforts and endeavors the year 1950-1951 has been made. This book written for the students and about the students is the record of that year.

Dedication

TO OUR PARENTS:

When we sit down and do a little reflective thinking, we realize that of all those who share our pride in things accomplished our closest bonds are with our parents whose love and care have endured over a period of years. Their eyes have followed us unwaveringly and have reflected even the smallest measure of progress that we have made. They have made personal sacrifices for us beyond the call of duty. It is our mothers and dads who knew us first, forgave us most, and love us more than we can ever deserve.

We are humble in the realization that we did not always make the most of the best that was in us, but we are grateful for their faith in us and their tolerance of our shortcomings through the years. Because of this our hearts reach out to our parents and give them credit for a great deal of the motive power behind each one of us.

Class History

The importance of recording this class history for future reference is made clear because of difficulty in recalling the past. We look backward on what has been accomplished and forward with hopes, plans, and aspirations for our future.

It seems but a short while since we were typical inexperienced freshmen. Nevertheless, we are grateful for this opportunity to thank all those who so graciously helped make worthwhile and memorable this first year of our high school life. From this time on we moved nearer the front and were entrusted with important tasks. As we look back we realize that was a year of preparation for the school years that followed.

When we returned to school the next year, we Sophomores had great tasks. Our Captain was Walter Jourdan; co-captains were Bill Thomas, Marilyn Wilkie, Charles Wade Phillips and Worth Elkins. Walter Jourdan and Marilyn Wilkie were Student Council members; Sarah Fields was President of the F. H. A. Club; Marilyn Wilkie was 4-H President. Yesterdays are easily forgotten, but not those when we were enjoying being Sophomores.

We suppose you will be excited by a list of our Junior officers: President, Marilyn Wilkie; Vice-President, Betty Lou Hart; Secretary, Jean Herron; Treasurer, Jean Talley; Room Representative, Mary Jourdan. Jean Herron and Mack Phillips served on the Goldstone Staff. Goldston Hi-Lites Staff accepted Mack Phillips, Jean Herron and Bill Thomas. Student Council members were: Jean Talley, Marilyn Wilkie and Sarah Jane Fields. This year we had serving in the successful Safety Patrol Organization: Frona Wilkie, Lois Mashburn, Jean Talley, Bobbie Jean Phillips, Catherine Woody and Ruth Griffin. Marilyn Wilkie was Captain and Obie Ellis was Lieutenant. Jean Herron became a bus driver during this year.

Up until this time our basketball teams had been under the able coaching of Principal G. P. Cullipher. Diligently he and his teams worked and obtained all that they strived for. Jean Herron, Marilyn Wilkie, Jean Talley, William Fields and Bill Thomas were members of the teams.

Use the vivid imagination of a thousand girls and boys to feel the anticipation with which we looked forward to the Junior and Senior Prom. It was the first ever staged at our school.

We were kept on the run during our Senior year with Alma Thomas for our Senior President; Vice-President was Marilyn Wilkie; Secretary, Jean Herron; Treasurer, Jean Talley; Room Representative, Lois Mashburn. Bill Thomas was President of the Student Council and also the Goldstone. Lois Mashburn, Bobbie Jean Phillips, Jean Herron, Jean Talley, Marilyn Wilkie, Gilbert oldham, Alma Thomas, and Sara Jane Fields, and Ruth Griffin were on the Goldston Hi-Lites Staff. Alma Thomas, Sara Jane Fields, Lois Mashburn and Charles Wade Phillips were Student Council Members. Librarians were Lois Mashburn, Marilyn Wilkie and Betty Lou Hart.

In conclusion we don't regret leaving because there are others behind that want to experience being Seniors. Out in life there are other things we must accomplish. It may not be as easy and enjoyable as the twelve years we have completed here with you. There are surely ahead of us many steep hills and mountains to climb, but we feel certain of reaching the top. Now that the time has come for us to leave, a feeling of gratitude and responsibility descends upon us. We realize that we should no longer be the small keys we were four years ago, but larger ones willing to go out and direct others into the aisles we have passed. Thus it is with joy and expectation that we say adieu.

Senior Class Prophecy

I am a doorkeeper who will reveal the future of every member of the Senior Class, not in the common, ordinary, and very inaccurate ways known to you all, but in the only proper manner. I shall do it with keys. These small keys are the only instruments I shall use. Each key opens the door to the future of one of our class members ten years from now. I fear just this small future may sound discouraging enough, so perhaps it is just as well I did not bring my large keys with me.

The first key opens the door to the future of Franklin Wilkins, an admiral in the navy stationed at New York Bay.

Looking through another door into a spacious office, I see Alma Thomas wreathed in smiles, taking dictation from her boss.

Lois Mashburn, who always loved high altitudes, is now one of the most beautiful airline hostesses known.

Charles Wade Phillips is leading a life that will make him a credit to his community. He is a rich aviator, owner of 5,000 flying saucers.

Jack Jourdan has a very responsible position with the government. He is drawing up blue prints of the Atomic June Bug.

Frona Wilkie is song writer for Lily Pons and is married to a successful ranchman.

Bill Thomas is president of the University of North Carolina and has a part time job correcting English books.

Mary Ruth Fields, a WAC, is still sweet, quiet, and single. She is now stationed in a foreign country.

Betty Lou Hart, a beautiful lady, is modeling all the latest styles in Paris.

Catherine Woody is devoting all her time to her husband and daughter. She now lives on Coney Island.

Jean Herron is happily settled in her new home recently constructed by her husband. Tommy Lawton.

Jean Cheek is a comedian. She puts on her act for various funds and is extremely successful.

Obie Ellis is dazedly gazing at his own complete math book, one without any figures.

Sara Jane Fields. the mother of three, is a national 4-H club leader.

Ruth Griffin, an old maid, is living in Florida. She refuses to give the men a glance, afraid they are after her money.

Gilbert Oldham is the proud owner of one of the largest lumber companies in the United States.

Marilyn Wilkie is a neat, attractive designer of the latest styles in women's clothes.

Listen! No, it can't be my keys, for it is a whistle. Ah! —it is William Fields coaching his team to play with good sportsmanship.

In New York, I see a beautiful blonde dancing gracefully over the floor. Now, after ten years, she is the best dancer in the United States—Bobbie Jean Phillips, a classmate of whom we can all be proud.

The final key unlocks a door where Jean Talley, head nurse of Duke Hospital, is giving orders to all the other nurses.

JEAN TALLEY,
Prophetess

Class Poem

Our school days have ended
In Goldston School you see.
Thoughts of graduation
Touch us quite tenderly.

Dear friends and teachers too,
We hope you're not too sad
At what we are tonight.
We're really not so bad

We've enjoyed the years together
Though they seem but very few
And, as we march forward,
We'll have kind thoughts of you.

The key has turned the lock
That now shows us the way.
We seniors are hoping
Our trip is fast and gay.

Good-bye, teachers and friends,
We are filled with regret;
We just hate to leave you;
Your love we'll ne'er forget.

ALMA THOMAS,
Class Poet

Class Song

We are leaving; for we've learned to read. write, and spell.
As we sing to you, dear school, echoes reply.
We have passed our work and we all think we did well.
We're so proud that we shout praises to the sky!

We feel that this is no occasion for much gladness.
We can give you only one half-hearted smile.
Singing loudly, singing proudly, we have sadness.
For we hate to leave you even for a while.

We assure you that the half has never been told
We love you, classmates, teachers, friends, with all our hearts.
Many dreams have been brought to our doorsteps.
They'll not lie there, and then die there.
We will surely be famous before long
And not forget the school where first we got our start.
